President's Message

As this is our first issue, I want to take this time to thank everyone who has joined "Carolina TAMS". The Society has designated all who joined by December 31, 1980 as charter members. I especially would like to thank Russell Southworth, Herschel Sutton and Aubrey Haddock who have consented to join the executive as members and serve on our Board of Directors during this first year.

Russell, Jerry and I got together during the early part of December and drafted the By-laws. Copies will be sent to all of you (Ed. note: the draft is being included as part of this issue of the Quarterly),so that you may make any further suggestions or corrections before we finalize it for adoption.

We are planning on having meetings at the Winston-Salem Coin Show in April, the Raleigh Coin Show in June and our annual meeting which is held in conjunction with the N.C.N.A. convention in October, 1981. These plans, however, are tentative as we must find out if we can obtain a meeting room for these shows.

Our main feature as an organization will be our publication which will be produced by Jerry. I must stress to each member the necessity of everyone submitting articles and news items. With something as diversified as collecting medals, tokens and etc, it is to your benefit to let others know of our different interests. The main reason we all joined this organization was to be in contact with local people who share similar fields of collecting. The article that you write may arouse someone else's interest in your special field.

As we launch both a new year and a new club, I would like to extend to all of you your most enjoyable year yet as a collector.

Don Weiler

Editor's comments:

Well after a bit of time, energy and the pushing of pen, typewriter and camera I am mailing to you the first issue of the Quarterly. I shall not try to cover to any great length what I know should be reviewed, but try just to hit the main points in regards to the future issues of the Quarterly.

1-What's it going to cost to produce the Quarterly? I'll know very shortly as I do not have the printing charges. I will hopefully give you a report at our next meeting.

2-Articles, news items & etc.--Yes!!! I need them to keep the Quarterly afloat. So I am counting on everyone helping in this important area.

3-Free 25-word ad to all paid-up members. Deadline for the next issue will be the 16th of March. So please do send your ad, but have it on or before that date. If anyone wishes to run a display type ad in the Quarterly please write. Currently we do not have a policy and prices for paid ads, but don't let that stop you.

4-Lastly, I would appreciate your comments, suggestions for the future issues of the Carolina TAMS QUARTERLY. I look forward to working with you in producing a worthwhile journal for our organization.

Society's Business & General Secretary comments & remarks:

We are currently 33 members strong as a new organization on the horizon and looking better all the time. And we should do "very nicely" as the warm weather begins to reach us.

Membership Drive-- Yes!!! We can use many new members and you can help by either signing individuals yourself or ask me to mail an application to a prospected member. I am hoping that many new collectors as well as some of our South Carolina collectors will join us as the word spreads. I might mention in the next issue I will begin listing "New Finds," a regular feature to the Quarterly. And to start this feature off in the next issue I will begin listing South Carolina trade tokens not listed by Randy Chambers in his SOUTH CAROLINA TOKENS (TAMS JOURNAL, June, August & October 1977 issues).

For those of you who were unable to attend our Greensboro meeting I will just briefly strike a few remarks.

1- The name "Carolina TAMS"(for Carolina Token & Medal Society) was officially adopted by all. We all agreed that N.C. TAMS was somewhat limiting.

2- Our attendance for the meeting was roughly 15 people with a good 5 or 6 new members.

3- One of the main items of business was the selection of officers. Well, it was a hit & miss and at times a shoot out with Don Weiler, pres.; Autence Bason, v.pres; Jerry R. Roughton, sec-treas; and our Board of Directors: Russ Southworth, Aubrey T. Haddock and Herschel Sutton.(I will introduce them by name in this issue and promise to give you a better into in our next issue.)

4- It was made known that the Society was in need of some By-Laws. There was agreement and some of us said we would work on a draft in the near future.

5- I hope I touched upon all the important items. Your secretary, Jerry

Section 2. Regards the rules, the Board may rule to: a.dismiss the charges; b.censure; c. suspend; d. expel, the accused member.

ARTICLE VI Special Provisions

Section 1. These By-laws may be amended or altered by a 2/3rds vote of the membership present at any regular meeting of the Society or by a majority vote of the Executive Board.

(Editor's note. Dr. Arthur Speckle enjoys collecting a wide range of what may be classed as "collectibles". To this may be added a generous nature and a love of sharing bits of information he has uncovered. I asked Dr. Speckle some months ago if he would be willing to write something for the QUARTERLY. He agreed, but saying he is "not a literary genius" and not to expect too much. I am most grateful to Dr. Speckle for the following article for this issue."

Cape Fear Shingle Company

It was my good luck some years ago to make the acquaintance of a gentleman from our state who is also a fellow collector. He showed me the token (or ch ck as it was known at one time) pictured here. The token had been passed down through a relation of his. What makes this token so intriquing I believe is not that it is a rare lumber token, but that it has survived. It is a round cardboard paper check. It is one of the early types of tokens you often hear about, ones used prior to the 1900's in mostly the textile mills. These checks were generally printed locally for local use in the company run stores.

The Keeper of the Company's Store will pay the Bearer, in merchandise,

I was most curious as the location for the Cape Fear Shingle Company as it does not appear on the token. I was told LITTLE RIVER ACADEMY, N.C. Well, I don't mine saying I have been around for a good many years and know some out of the way places in the state, but Little River Academy was a new one on me. Taking from my book shelf Powell's North Carolina Gazetteer I looked for Little River Academy. I was referred to "Linden" where I found the following: "town in n North Cumberland County. Settled about 1800.Inc 1913 and named for a grove of linden trees nearby. Known as Little River Academy prior to 1910." Checking a little further for "Little River" I further learn from Mr. Powell that the river rises in southwest Moore county and flows southeast across north Hoke county into Cumberland and along the Cumberland-Harnett county line into the Cape Fear River. Well it was plain to see where the name for the shingle company was derived. It must have been located quite near the Cape Fear River and in all probability in operation prior to 1910.

As rare as this token is I found it even more rarer that the collector could give me the name of the printer for this check— Geo. W. Baker, Jonesboro, N.C. (now incorporated as Sanford). He also owns an advertisement for the Cape Fear Shingle Company which was printed by Baker as well. The advertisement reads:

"Manufacturers of shingles, lath, etc./ Little River Academy, N.C. / J.E. Taylor, President / Jonesboro, N.C. / J.M. Hodges, Treasurer / Little River Academy, N.C."

—President's Message—

Dear Fellow Members,

Just returned from the Lexington Coin Show where we rounded up a few of our members who were present and held an informal meeting. Considering that all members had received a copy of our proposed By-Laws and that no one sent in any suggested changes, we decided to bring them up for adoption. Two minor changes were made, and they were then accepted.

The main information that I would like to give you is about our first Spring meeting. It will be held on Sat., May 2 at 2:00 P.M. at the Winston-Salem Show. This show is centrally located in the state and we think it will present a good opportunity for many of our members to attend. We will have a guest speaker, and I would like you to bring along your comments & suggestions for the future.

We plan to issue a club directory as soon as possible. Please furnish us with your name, address or phone no. and your collecting interests. We want to establish a list of members for each collecting category.

That's it for now, see y'all in Winston-Salem. Don

Editor's comments:

I would just like to add a few things before going to the printer. We hope a good number of our members will be able to attend the May 2 meeting. You may wish to bring some of your trading and/or selling materials as I believe we will be allowed a room to ourselves. The speaker for this meeting is Art Andrews from Smithfield, NC who will give a brief talk on Hard Times tokens.Anyone needing directions to the show may write to me and I will do my best to furnish you a map. Please send a SASE--it helps.

I'm looking for articles as well as news items for future QUARTERLIES so let me hear from you. Also I want to encourage members to mail your 25-word FREE ads it may be beneficial to you.

We now have 42 members and look forward to many more joining us.
I am planning to attend the 1981 National Collectibles Exposition in Chicago alone with fellow enthusiast Eugene Hamlin from Carthage, NC. I'll be sharing a table with another exonumist Chuck Kirtley now residing in Brasstown, NC. I look forward to the show and meeting many fellow collectors and friends. I do hope to sign a good number to the Society.

It is in the thought stages, but there may be a possible CAR-TAMS meeting for the Raleigh Coin Show still a few months off. Jerry

South Carolina Tokens

This is the first installment for South Carolina Tokens found not to be listed by Randy Chambers in his "South Carolina Tokens" published in the TAMS JOURNAL in four parts, April-June-August-October 1977 issues. While Randy worked to catalogue, assigning individual numbers and rarity value, my intent will not encompass those particulars. Rather my purpose is to bring to light new finds and to encourage others to do likewise that we may build upon the information and disseminate it to the collectors.

Lastly, I would like to acknowledge the work Randy accomplished in cataloguing of the known South Carolina tokens; and say that all collectors of Southern tokens greatly appreciate the time and energy he put forth to bring this work together for our use.

Editor's note: I plan to list many, many more S.C. tokens in the coming issues of the QUARTERLY. If anyone would like to submit "new finds" please send rubbings, impressions and descriptions in care of the QUARTERLY, P.O. Box 5651, Greensboro, NC 27403. In the meantime, I am looking for a member to serve as a NEW FINDS EDITOR. If interested please write.

Meeting Held in Raleigh

The Raleigh Stamp and Coin Show people were very kind to allow our group to hold an unannounced meeting in conjunction with their show on Saturday June 13th. They provided us with a room in which to meet and despite the extra warm temperatures the meeting proved to be a pleasant get together for the eight members and guests who attended.

Following a short business discussion the program was turned over to the well-known Mayflower/Pilgrim medallist specialist Russell Southworth. Russ gave us a very informative talk entitled "The Pilgrim Voyage," the story of the Mayflower's trek to the new world. Russ, an ardent collector of medals relating to the Mayflower and Pilgrim themes is quite an exhibitor as well as collector. I believe he enjoys exhibiting as much as collecting proving this by winning numerous state competitions and A.N.A. 3rd place award in the medals class in 1977.

The members enjoyed a swap/trade/sell secession following the program. I did manage to take rubbings for a token which later proved to be an unlisted N.C. trade token.

Paul Tucker, a new member brought a token for identification, Aubrey (center) and Jerry Roughton looking it over.

"Drayage tokens are quite popular with vecturists, many of whom collect them along with regular transportation tokens," David Schenkman writes. "After all, they were good for fare, the only difference being that it was cargo instead of human. Most drayage tokens I have seen have been from southern and southwestern states."[1]

It is a coincidence that David should mention the "southern" states as one of the sources for drayage tokens and the purchase of a drayage token. While attending a coin show in Asheville, N.C. I bought a maverick which checked later turned out to be actually from Asheville. Coincidently the octagonal shaped aluminum token is for the SOUTHERN DRAY CO. There is little I can say about the piece other than it is "Good For 10 In Trade" and the business was in operation at least for the years 1919-20.

However, despite the lack of information let me leave you with this short account of the activities of a drayman as told by Rena H. Davenport. The account is from an earlier time and is from Washington and the Pamlico by Ursula F. Loy and Pauline M. Worthy:

"The town was full of drays. A drayman was a man, white or colored, with an old horse & cart who paid the town $1.00 a year for a license to operate. The fee charged to carry a load or a bundle was 10 cents. There were dozens of transfers in town. These were horse-drawn surreys driven by white men & the fare for a ride anywhere in town was 35 cents. They met every train and every boat."

President's Letter

Dear Fellow Members,

Its time for our 1st annual convention. We have put together what we think will be a memorable meeting. To make this convention a sucess there is one main ingredient that must still be added-- you must attend. Winston-Salem is centrally located, therefore, no one will be inconvenienced by driving the full length of the state. So lets get out there and meet your fellow collectors and bring some duplicates with you to swap.

Our Society is just about a year old and we must all thank Jerry for all the work he has done getting our group going. Our last newsletter was the best one yet (it even had photographs). We had a couple of meetings where we had about ten members present, and I believe we all had a sociable and informative get together. I am sure we should have a greater gathering at the convention.

Now for the bad news--wait till we report how much money we have left in the treasury.
